

A

James Bond takes the keys and gets into the man's car. He drives very fast to the car park and crashes the car, which sets off the alarm. He gets out and throws away the keys and then walks into the hotel. At the same time, the security guards run out. He finds the security office and goes inside. He takes out his mobile phone and looks at the security camera video. Then he finds a date on his phone and looks for a CD of that date. He puts the CD in the machine and looks for the same time on the video as on his phone. When he has found the correct time, he looks at the man on the video.

B

James Bond takes the keys and waits until the man has gone. He throws away the keys and goes in to the hotel. At the reception desk he says that he has a reservation in the name of Bond... James Bond. The receptionist smiles at him and checks her computer. She tells him that his room is ready and gives him his key. Bond thanks her, asks her what time the restaurant opens, and takes the lift to his room. He opens the door and goes over to the window. Outside he can see some women playing tennis. He walks to the phone and orders a vodka martini.